Stefano Takacs new Director of Vodafone's Central Italy Region

Rome, 24 January 2007. Stefano Takacs is the new Director of Vodafone's Central Italy Region. After gaining a degree in Telecommunications Engineering and spells as a manager with the Alstom and Italtel groups, he joined Omnitel in 1995 with responsibility for developing the mobile network in north-eastern Italy.

Since 2000 he has been Network Director for Vodafone's Central Italy Region, and from today will also be the Company's representative in the seven regions in Central Italy: Lazio, Tuscany, Marche, Umbria, Abruzzo, Molise and Sardinia.

The Central Region – one of the four areas into which the Company's operations are divided, along with the North-western, North-eastern and Southern regions – plays an extremely important role in Vodafone Italia's business as it is home to two Call Centres, in Rome and Pisa, and a total of 1,700 staff.
